BOXING NOTES

Monte Attell, the ex-bantam champion of the Pacific coast and brother of the famous Abe Attell, has decided to follow in the footsteps of his big brother and quit the game for good. Monte has not been in the limelight to the extent that his big brother has, but for all that, he has been a very clever fighter and has met all the best bantams in the country during his time.

However, he has served in the ranks and has made up his mind to become a manager. Monte has been located for some time at Aberdeen, Wash., and has been developing a featherweight there named Rex Vernon. He claims the championship of the northwest and Monte says he is heading straight for Johnny Kilbane's title. "I have handled many a fighter," writes Monte "but this Vernon looks like a champion to me." He has all the confidence in the world and has been in a number of good battles here, winning all of them with ease. He is open to meet any featherweight in the world.

barring colored boxers, and this also goes to Johnny Kilbane at 122 pounds. I intend to bring him east this coming season and you can see for yourself that my opinion is up to snuff. I am going to challenge the winner of the Kilbane-Dundee fight at Los Angeles, but I presume they will want to pass us by and tell us to get a reputation. That may be, but I think before another year is passed Tex Vernon will have them looking for him."

Robideau, the young navy light weight, whom Jack McGuigan of Philadelphia thinks is the coming champion in the 133 pound class, has at last secured a match near his home. He has been in the ring with meet Pal Brown of Hibbing, Minn., in a ten round contest at Superior being hanging fire a long time and it was, Labor Day. This match has been hoped for now that it will be through as it will mean a splendid contest to the fans at the head of the lakes. Robideau has a record any light weight might feel proud of and it is a certainty that Pal Brown will be meeting the toughest opponent he ever bumped into. If Pal can defeat Robideau then he can make up his mind that he has come back in the very best of condition.

It is rather a peculiar incident, but the two above-mentioned boys (who are cousins) are rivals of the latest lightweight sensation in the state—Johnny Timman, and the winner of the Robideau-Brown contest will in all probability be matched to meet Robideau later on either at Hanson or Superior. Well, all three fighters were born near one another in Minnesota.

ANNIVERSARIES OF RING BATTLES

1885—Joe Lannan defeated Ed. McKeown in four rounds, foul, at Neche, N. D. Lannan was a fairly good heavyweight in his day and whipped a number of good men. He was a native of Prince Edward Island, the little Canadian Province which has turned out many good fighters, and started his ring career in Boston some thirty years ago. After two bouts with McKeown in North Dakota he made a tour of the west, and in 1886 he was matched with George Godfrey, the famous negro boxer, who was also a native of Prince Edward Island. Lannan held "Old Chocolate" to a draw, and repeated this performance in 1889, but was defeated by Jake Kilrain in 1897. He fought the great Peter Jackson in 1890, but the bout was stopped by police. Lannan's last bout on this side of the Atlantic was in 1892, when he was knocked out by George Godfrey.

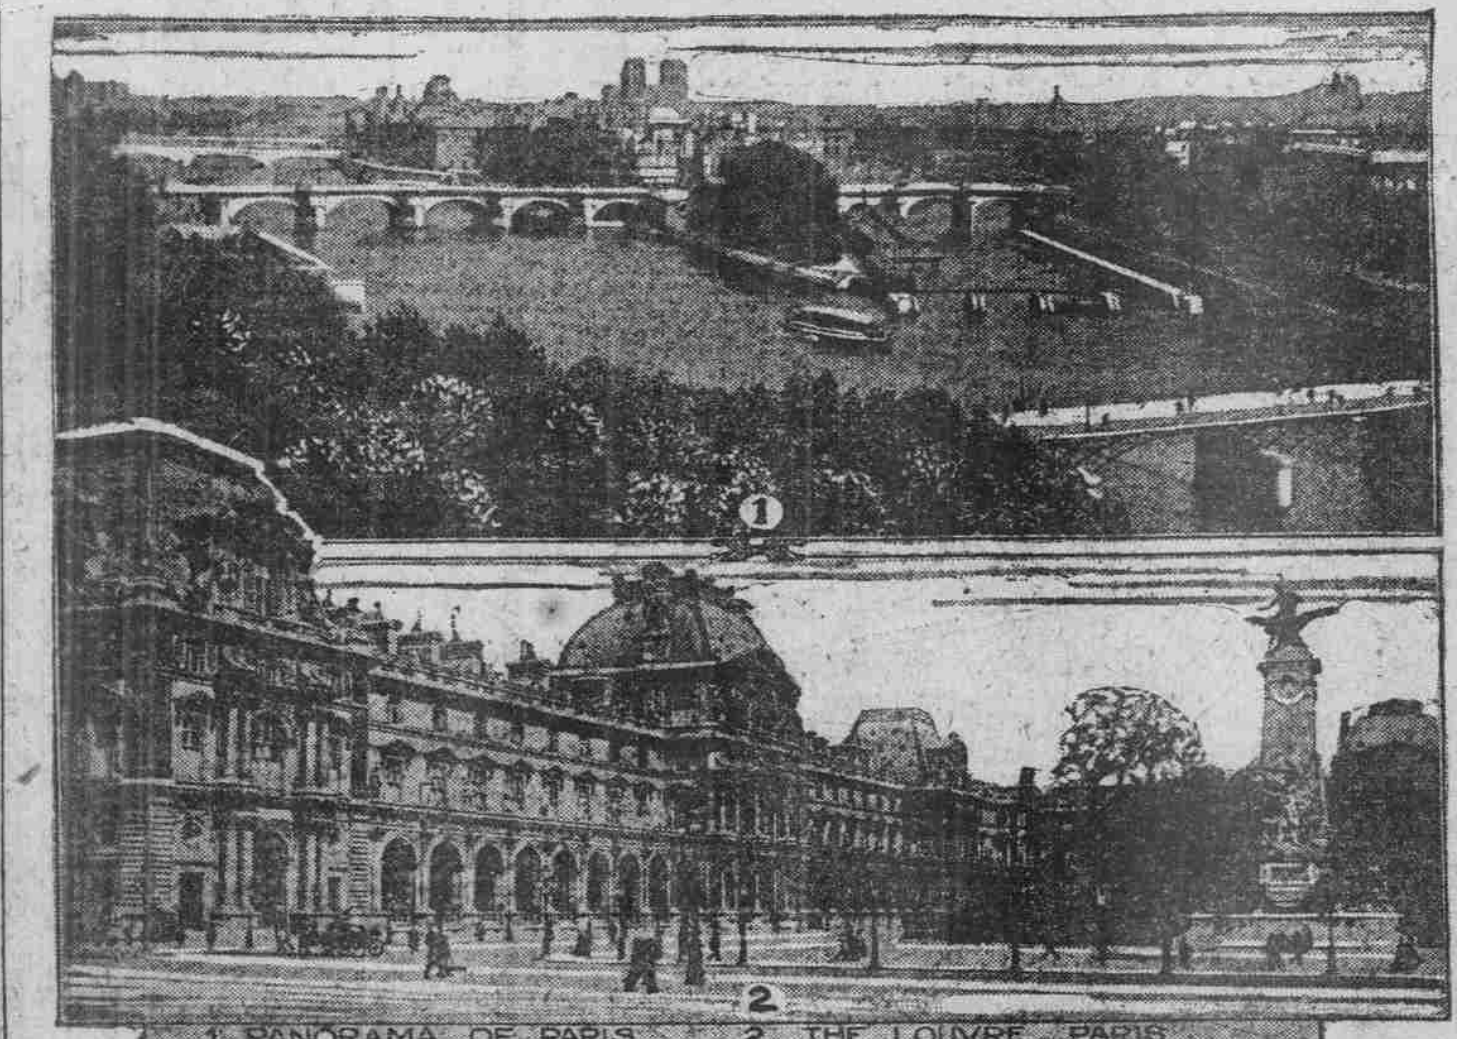

1890—Theodore Antonopoulos, "Anton the Greek," born at Andreeina, Greece.

1894—Spike Sullivan and Jimmy Gardner fought 15-round draw at Fall River, Mass.

1908—Tommy Burns knocked out Bill Lang in the sixth round at Melbourne, Australia.

1890—Young Griffo defeated Billy Murphy in 15 rounds at Sydney. This bout was for the featherweight championship of the world, and by his victory Griffo was fairly entitled to the belt, although his name is not usually included in American lists. Ike Weir was the recognized champion up to Jan. 13, 1890, when he fought Australian Billy Murphy for the title and diamond belt. Murphy won by a knockout in the 14th round of the bout, which was staged in San Francisco, and, after defeating Tommy Warren, Tommy White and Eddie Graney, returned to Australia with his trophy. After winning the title, Griffo fought Murphy again in 1891, and again the victor. In the meantime, George Dixon had claimed the world's title, and Griffo's claims were discredited. Griffo came to America in 1892 and fought draws with Tommy

FAMOUS LOUVRE TREASURES GUARDED FROM SHELLS AS GERMANS PRESS ON TO PARIS

1 PANORAMA OF PARIS 2 THE LOUVRE, PARIS

These views of Paris are of timely interest just at this moment, when it appears more than likely that the German army will invade the city. An interesting panoramic view of the city, showing the Seine, and the character of the buildings, is given. The famous Louvre, where many of the greatest art treasures of the world are kept, is also shown. The windows of this great museum have been barred with thick wire, and many of the treasures have been taken to the basement, in case the building is damaged by bombs or shells. If the Germans take Paris it is sure that the Louvre would be raided of its priceless objects.

STATE FAIRS TO BE LARGER AND BETTER THIS YEAR

Every day now is bringing announcements of additional big features for the Connecticut fair and after giving the list even a hurried glance one can readily see that there will be something new to attract one's attention every moment no matter how long a time it is intended to spend at Connecticut's great exposition, which opens at Charter Oak park, Hartford, Monday, September 7 (Labor day), and continues throughout the week to Saturday, inclusive. The latest advice from the Grand Circuit, which opens at Charter Oak park, Hartford, Monday, September 7 (Labor day), and continues throughout the week to Saturday, inclusive. Motorcycle Races. The fair association has just announced a big motorcycle carnival for Saturday. This will be a real thrill show. There are a number of paced races, said to be of a sensational nature, on the program. There is a big program of short and middle distance events with the world's fastest speedsters, including Arthur Chapelle, the greatest of them all, entered for the tests of skill and daring. The big automobile parade will also be held on Saturday and not on Wednesday, as previously announced. There is a prize list of $500, with several for the ladies. Arthur Pifoot, secretary of the Automobile Club of Hartford, has charge of this feature and can furnish entry blanks.

Champion Athletics Coming. As a special attraction for Labor day morning a mammoth athletic meet has been arranged with some of America's greatest performers, including Abel Kiviat and Norman Taber, entered. Kiviat wears the colors of the New York Athletic club, and holds the world's record for the mile. Taber is the former sensational athlete of Brown university who

FADS AND FASHIONS

White pique is a good fabric for the smart separate vests, made to wear with coats. Heavy silks with raised velvet patterns will be much seen among gaudiest for fall. The new vesties are of organdie as often as pique, and are almost always embroidered. White suede shoes with black patent leather tips are among the smartest of smart shoes. In some dresses the tunic and giraffe are of Roman striped cloth and the rest of a plain color. Some of the prettiest fabrics for one-piece dresses are subdued checks in brown, blue and green. Flounced skirts have their flounces rounded or pointed and bound with silk or braid. The woman who wears all white constantly in summer is sure of always appearing distinguished. A sleeveless overblouse is a handy thing to hide lightness or any imperfection in a worn waist. In choosing autumn coats, it is well to remember that cheviot takes a large pattern particularly well. Brassieres become more and more airy and delicate. Some have no trimming at all, to save bulkiness. The best style of skirt is a skirt in the plain, straight hanging skirt made with two, three or four widths. A decided ripple is noticed in many of the new hip-length coats. Usually they are worn with flaring skirts. Lace will be liberally used on evening gowns the coming autumn—it will even make entire bodices and sleeves. Printed satins for linings show a riot of color and patterns that are beyond the wildest dreams of the futurist. The cape with sleeves is among the new garments. Such capes are very much rippled and made of rich materials. The grand prize of the international exposition of safety and sanitation in the electrical industry was awarded to the New York Edison company for the lead it has taken in safeguarding generating machinery and the handling of high tension current as well as for the large number of thoroughly tested safety devices with which it has provided its employees. Kukui nut oil is a valuable Hawaiian product, and is in demand in the paint and varnish trade. It has been shipped in the United States from various Pacific islands for the last seventy-five years. That the eagle can look into the intense sunlight without blinking is a plained, it is said, by the fact that the bird has a thin transparent veil which it can draw over the eyeball when occasion requires and which traps the light but does not obstruct the vision. Fifty million dollars is spent annually on racing in Great Britain, $25,000,000 on football, $40,000,000 on theatres, $30,000,000 on cricket and $25,000,000 on motor racing, according to an "unofficial" estimate.
